

UMass Law is the commonwealth's only public law school. We are committed to providing an excellent, affordable, and accessible legal education that prepares our graduates to practice in any field of law. We offer flexible and joint degree programs and our Legal Skills program teaches fundamental lawyering skills through simulated and real-world assignments. Public Interest Law Fellowships (PILF) provide a 50% scholarship in exchange for practicing public interest law for four years after graduation. Our faculty are teachers and scholars with substantial academic and practice experiences who are dedicated to their students' success.

On the rise, in pursuit of justice.

FROM OUR ALUMNI

"UMass Law opened a lot of doors for me. I've had opportunities to work with professors and network. I'm prepared to step out into the real world. I can speak in a courtroom, and I acquired the right experience in my classes, clinic, and internship."

-Janay Davidson, JD '23,
Public Defender, Legal Aid Society of New York City

"The professors are amazing. They make themselves available whenever we need them to ensure we are in a position to succeed."

-Timothy Robinson, JD '21, part-time UMass Law student
